THE young man of the Independent can't see why a Fellow-Servant law should be confined to the railroads. Did it ever occur to him that a railroad corporation is a quasi public servant, with power to take land away from private citizens under certain contingencies, and possessing other powers peculiar to public servants? And that, possibly, such a corporation might not be on the same footing with the public as is a private individual?

THE Democratic Central Committee of the State of Illinois, believing that other for cheating on examination, a the question of the Free Coinage of several others have been accused of li Silver would be the most prominent question of the campaign of 1896, concluded that its wisest course would be to take the sense of the rank and file of the party upon this question, and permit the great body of Democrats in that State to formulate the policy of the party. This is very distasteful to the administration at Washington. It denies, in effect, that the rank and file of the party have any business with its policy. It is their business to vote. A Reply to "Isaac."

Des Arc, which seems somewhat out of and let them perform at night. place, or needs correction. He says a Seventh Day Adventist (or a young Christ, as ne calls him), had been preaching and had turned the town upside down and has made some of their people believe that they were keeping the wrong day for Sunday. That is a mistaken idea, or wrongly construed. Sunday is only Sunday, the first day of the week, and not the Seventh day Sabbath, as the bible teaches in both old and new testament, and as friend "Isaac" well knows, if he has ever studied his bible, as he should have done, being a professor long as he has been. He says "converting the weakminded women and weak-kneed men." but thinks very strange that "such men as Talmage, Beecher and Spurgeon have not found this out." It is easy to solve that mystery: because they have done as friend "Isaac," turned a deaf ear to the truth of God, and keep the commandments of men for their own tradition, which can be found in Mathew 15, 1-9, not calling any one hypocrites. But those who insert the first day in place of the seventh do notearry out these scriptures. He wants to know "why don't this young (Christ) go to Congress and there proclaim to them that they are wrong?" If friend "Isanc" was posted on this subject, he would see that Congress neversits without one of these (Christs) | proved. as he calls them, right there all the time working with them. But "Isaac" has not been to Congress, and I do not drawn on treasury for same: ever expect to see his name among the congressmen without a great change.

He assails him with not going to large cities. He goes to St. Louis and De Soto, but as a general rule they have men in the large cities that are he in the large cities that are more able to fill them, as the young Willie Kendal, (Christ) is only a pop-gun in the ranks of his denomination. As for the learned preacher, he does not go aroud was then called to Des Arc by one of janitors be approved. "Isaac" says it is against the law to director for one year. less a man keeps the Sabbath. Pupils seen out of place at a time by members of the faculty are ported to the president and notified the same, for which they must ha the secretary a written excuse. The measure is having a wonderful effe in keeping our "bummy" pupils during study hours.

The commencement programme published in the catalogue last summer puts the annual address in connection with the graduating exercises of the "A" class. The class feels competent to entertain an audience without the assistance of the address, and everybody here knows that Prof. Norton can entertain an audience without any help. feel sure that he will fill the position to the satisfaction of all concerned. But all the while we were hoping that Mr. Cureton would be elected for had he been, the reputation of the West End would have been partly if not wholly redeemed from the stigma (has that word gone out of date?) of disgraceful ignorance which hangs over it. Those who know Fred only through his correspondence to the Register, know nothing of his sterling worth. A native of the West End, he has by his integrity and diligence won the esteem of all who personally know him.
